

CLASSROOM

ALIGN ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADEBOOKS TO STANDARDS-BASED LEARNING

Empower your educators to share assessments and assignments for common instruction. Assessments created in Classroom can gather multiple choice, short answer, or other submissions, and each question can be aligned to CCSS, NGSS, or district-specific standards.

Also in Classroom, set up gradebooks for traditional courses or for small-group pullouts. Maximize efficiency by creating gradebooks en masse from a master template — the correct teachers and students will be associated automatically, thanks to integration with your course codes and Student Information System.

FOSTER COLLABORATION

Create efficiencies in your district, with electronic assignments and question banks easily accessed and shared.

STUDENT DATA INTEGRATION

Employ dynamic “smart groups” to automatically update your class as students enroll or withdraw.

INFORM INSTRUCTIONAL DECISIONS

Feed results into Homeroom Dashboards for use by assessment coordinators, administrators, or specialists.

SHARED ASSIGNMENTS AND ASSESSMENTS MAKE IT EASY TO PROVIDE CONSISTENCY ACROSS THE DISTRICT.

Question #2

Read the passage. The Boy Who Cried Wolf, before answering any questions. You may stop and jot (jot down) your thinking on the paper as you are reading.

The Boy who Cried Wolf has been told and retold for generations. Do you think this traditional tale is still relevant today? Why or why not? Be sure to share at least 2 details from the text to support your opinion.
